School Musicians Enter State Meet

Fifty members of the Hastings High School Music Department will be at the County Center in White Plains, tomorrow and Saturday, Dec. 8 and 9, to participate in the annual All-State Music Festival, sponsored by the Westchester Instrumental Music Education Association. Seventeen students from the Hastings Chorus will sing in the All-State Chorus; while the All-State instrumental groups will include ten from this school's band and 13 from the orchestra.

In addition to names previously published, Anthony and Dolph Castellano and Joseph Pasanella, Hastings music students, will form the complete percussion section of the All-State Orchestra.

This festival will close with a public concert Saturday evening at 8:15. Howard E. Marsh and Harry Alshin, of the faculty, are in charge of the Hastings group.

Choral Presents Christmas Program

The Hastings Morning Choral presented a program of Christmas music together with a Cantata, "The River of Stars", by Clarence K. Bowden, following the Christmas luncheon held by the Womans' Organization of the First Presbyterian Church of Mt. Vernon, on Friday afternoon, Dec. 1.

Mrs. John Henderson was soloist for "The River of Stars."

The Christmas program included "Lo How a Rose Ere Blooming", sung by a trio, Mrs. F. Lynch, alto, Mrs. F. Wheat, 2nd soprano, and Mrs. J. Henderson, 1st soprano.

Mrs. F. Koster was soloist in a couple of the Christmas numbers, which included:

Shepards Christmas Song, O Holy Night, Here a Torch Jeanette Isabella, and Silent Night. The program was concluded by the singing of "Adeste Fideles", in which the audience was asked to participate.
