Steven Adelman

Steven Adelman has been a member of the Plainview Jewish Center for over twenty years. He moved from Whitestone, Queens in 1997 with his wife Linda and children Andrew and Michelle. Both of his children graduated from Plainview Jewish Center Hebrew School and became Bar and Bat mitzvah there as well. Michelle continued her Jewish studies by graduating from PJC Hebrew High School. Steven feels nothing but pride watching his children grow as they carve out their own way in the world. Andrew works as a Chef in a Spanish Tapis restaurant while living in Babylon, and Michelle is a Special Education Teacher living in the old neighborhood of Whitestone, Queens.

While attending New York Institute of Technology, Steven had the opportunity to continue his studies in Rome, Italy. He received his BS in Architectural Sciences. After graduating, Steven began his career in the construction industry by obtaining the position of Assistant Account Manager for an Acoustical Wall Covering contractor. During this time of employment, he discovered the importance of computers in his field. Steven self-taught himself many of the computer skills and applications necessary for him to succeed in his industry.

For the past 13 years he has worked for Pyramid Floor Covering, Inc. where he is director of the Estimating Department. It was here that he developed his own computer estimating programs that interfaced with the companies accounting programs and are now the standard used within the company.

Steven is a proud member of the PJC Men's Club since 2006 and is slated to become President, in July of 2019. His introduction to the Men's club started by simply helping assemble and disassemble the Men's Club Sukkoth each year and was always welcome with open arms. As his children grow up, he realized he had time to give back to both the Jewish community and his temple and felt the Men's Club was his way to do that. It was never a goal or ambition to become President, but after saying yes one too many times and as his wife likes to joke; forgetting how to say "no" just one time, he agreed to be 3rd VP for one term only, as a fill-in. Since being introduced to the functions of the Executive Board, Steven has embraced his upcoming presidency.

Steven takes great pride in all the work he does with the Men's Club. He is especially proud of co-producing the PJC Men's Club Patio Plays yearly production for the past 3 years, which is the club's largest yearly Fund Raiser.

Steven is an avid cyclist who you may see riding his road bike to work in the summer months. He also enjoys trail and mountain biking. He is also a member of several local bike organizations. When he isn't on a bike, you may see him cheering on his wife as she participates in local marathons. Together, they hike the wooded trails of Long Island and mountainous trails in upstate New York.

Steven would like to send love to his wife Linda for her continued, unbreakable support; understanding and love. He would also like to send his love to his children Andrew and Michelle, who have grown into remarkable members of the community.

Lastly, Steven would like to thank the members of the PJC Men's Club for choosing him as FJMC Man of the Year and is very appreciative of this honor. He would also like to congratulate the other honorees, including his Co honoree, Emily Kubrick who is Plainview Jewish Center's FJMC Youth of the Year and also happens to be an integral part of the Men's Club Patio Player's productions.
