

Regional Man of the Year

Dr. Steven Mandel

Steven Mandel MD is Clinical Professor of Neurology at Hofstra North Well School of Medicine Lenox Hill Hospital. He is Adjunct Professor of Neurology at New York Medical College and at New York College of Podiatric Medicine. He is past President of the New York Occupational and Environmental Medical Association. He has received the Distinguished Service Award as the Editor of the NYOEMA News Letter. He is a Fellow of the International Association of Independent Medical Examiners, and has received the Presidential Award. He is a Certified Medical Review Officer and a Commercial Medical Examiner.

He has been recognized by Castle Connolly as a Top Neurologist in the New York Metro Region and Nationally. He is in New York Magazine under Top Doctors of New York.

He has written three books on medicine and has authored more than 200 publications in scientific journals. He has served on Guideline Panels for national organizations, including Head Trauma, Opioids and Chronic Pain.

He is the Medical Editor of the FJMC/MRJ Newsletter. He is the Expert Opinion Editor of Practical Neurology.

He attended the Albert Einstein College of Medicine. After completing his residency in Neurology at Albert Einstein/Montefiore, he was the Jerry Lewis Neuromuscular Fellow at Washington University, St. Louis.

He was born in New York City and grew up on the Lower East Side. He is married to his best friend, Heidi, who has a PhD, a DPM, and an LMSW. She is a social work supervisor for The Jewish Board and is a National Commissioner for the Anti-Defamation League. They have three children: Jesse, Elisabeth and David.

Steven's goal is to promote health and wellness in the Jewish Community in the New York Metro Region.

He would like to thank his fellow members and clergy for their support of the FJMC for its programming and community outreach.

Thank you.
Steven Mandel MD