Dear Friends,

Please accept my warmest greetings and congratulations as you gather to celebrate the Schechter School of Long Island's Annual Gala. I am grateful for the opportunity to recognize tonight's honorees as well as the Schechter School of Long Island for their significant contributions to the community.

The Schechter School of Long Island is a K-12 Jewish day school central to the development of young people from across Long Island. The school seamlessly bridges the gap between academia and faith, allowing students to critically consider the world around them. In addition to providing an excellent education, the Schechter School of Long Island instills important values in its students that enable them to make a difference in their community and improve the lives of others.

Furthermore, we celebrate Stephanie and Rami Abada, Jamie and Adam Altman, Barbara Mann, and Jackie and Stuart Miller. They each share the Schechter School of Long Island's vision for how best to prepare our youth to become the best they can be. I sincerely commend everything tonight's honorees do to make Long Island a better place for our children.

Once again I would like to congratulate the Schechter School of Long Island and tonight's honorees. On behalf of all New Yorkers, I applaud your wonderful work to better Long Island's children. I am confident that the Schechter School of Long Island will continue its noble effort to prepare their students to be kind, responsible, and global citizens. Best wishes for a wonderful evening.

Sincerely,

Charles E. Schumer
United States Senator
