Dear Mark and Marcie,

It is with great admiration and gratitude that I extend this official recognition to you both on the occasion of the Westchester Jewish Center's Spring Gala. Your extraordinary dedication to WJC over the past 25 years exemplifies the spirit of community, leadership, and service that makes Westchester County such a special place to call home.

From the day you were first welcomed into the WJC family, your commitment has been nothing short of inspiring. Mark, your countless hours of service—particularly in your role as an Officer and head of the Security Committee—have safeguarded not only the physical well-being of congregants, but also the integrity of the WJC mission. Your contributions to the Brotherhood, Spiritual Life Committee, Team Tefillin, strategic planning efforts, and service leadership reflect a deep and abiding love for Jewish communal life.

Marcie, your impact has been equally profound. From your hands-on involvement as a Class Parent and leader within the Religious School Parent Subcommittee, to organizing joyous celebrations and beautifying the Succah, you have strengthened the bonds that connect families across generations. Your ongoing commitment to the Bikur Cholim Committee for over 20 years, providing comfort and care to those in need, is a remarkable testament to your compassion and sense of responsibility.

Moreover, your professional lives speak volumes about your shared values. Mark, your leadership at AIG in global reinsurance demonstrates precision and accountability on a global scale. Marcie, your work as a mathematics educator and mentor at Rye Country Day School shapes the minds and futures of countless young people.

As County Legislator, I am proud to recognize individuals who embody the highest ideals of civic and communal service. The Westchester Jewish Center and the greater community have been immeasurably enriched by your steadfast dedication, warmth, and leadership.

Congratulations on this well-deserved honor. Westchester County is fortunate to count you among its most committed and caring residents.

With warmest regards and sincere appreciation,

Catherine F. Parker
