To our dear friends of Women's League . . .

The people, families and institutions of the Conservative Movement across the globe depend on the commitment and vitality of its driving forces. Nowhere will you find a more foundational and guiding influence than the leadership provided by Women's League for Conservative Judaism. This is as true now and going forward, as it has consistently been for its 100 year history.

The members and leadership of NAASE (the North American Association of Synagogue Executives) is so proud of its Movement Partner at this auspicious time in Women's League's history and is delighted to celebrate with you. You actively and meaningfully fulfill your worthy and weighty goal of "Engaging, enriching & empowering Conservative Jewish women."

We take special note of the longtime educational and volunteer service opportunities provided to the Movement's women by the diverse program offerings of Women's League, and through them, the incredible and expansive influence on the Jewishness of its beneficiaries and participants. The institution supports the personal Jewish growth of untold individuals, and boasts an undeniable history of effectiveness in the many realms in which its programs function. The satisfaction derived by the volunteer corps in undertaking and fulfilling their many goals is the envy of many an executive across the Jewish organizational spectrum.

NAASE wishes our cherished friends of Women's League all the very best at this time and in the years ahead, as the organization builds on its solid foundation and expands its services and outreach to new generations of grateful beneficiaries and participants.

Yashar kochachem to all of the many dedicated individuals who together compose the profile of Women's League, its on-going mission, and its amazing record of accomplishment over this century! We look forward to continuing the celebration with all of you into your next century!
